

Machine Learning and Neural Networks Study Guide

This is a test document about machine learning and neural networks.

Key concepts include supervised learning, unsupervised learning, and deep learning.

Neural networks consist of input layer, hidden layers, and output layer.

Backpropagation and gradient descent are used to train the network parameters.